We are looking forward to Fairtrade Fortnight at St James, which has started this week. Our School council have organised a fantastic challenge for our pupils and families at St James! We would like you to all find as many products you can with the fairtrade symbol when you are out and about.

It may be at the supermarket, your local brownies group, your nan's house or a shop window! If you spot the fairtrade symbol in the next 2 weeks we'd like you to take a picture of it, or a selfie and tweet it with the hashtags @stjprimary #fairtradestjamesgorton #FairtradeFortnight #fairtradechallenge @FairtradeUKEd @FairtradeUK Happy fairtrade hunting and watch this space!

If you don't have a Twitter account already, then it's easy to join.

Go to Twitter.com and set up a new account. Just remember to check all your security settings are the way you want them before you post anything.

Once you're online and tweeting, make sure you follow @stjprimary so you can see what other fairtrade goods the pupils have spotted, but also so you can see up to date news from the staff and pupils at St James.

Happy fairtrade tweeting!
